Sonoma Vintage Looking Good, Steve Rued, Winemaker

It's looking like another good vintage in Sonoma County. For the first time in about four years, above average rainfall brought us into the growing season with good soil moisture.

Happy to report a very mild spring, without any frost, and good weather during bloom. Summer has brought a good amount of warm days with cool and moist nights upping our crop at our vineyards in Dry Creek Valley, Alexander Valley and Russian River Valley about 30% over last year.

The Sauvignon Blanc harvest should start in the beginning of September, but as with all things farming, it all depends on the August weather!

- Steve Rued, Rued Winery

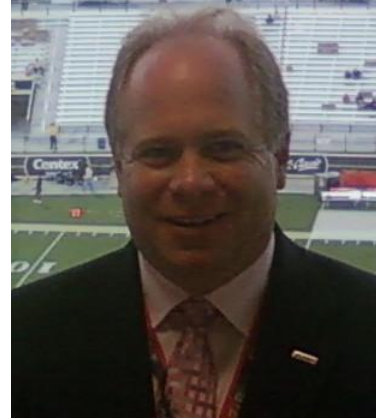

Welcome Kevin Collins, Southeast Regional Manager

We are pleased to welcome Kevin Collins to our team as the Southeast Regional Sales Manager.

Since starting his career with Lipman Brothers Distributors in Nashville 20 years ago, Kevin has held various regional and national sales positions for Kobrand, J.Lohr Winery, Cannon Wines and Mosaic/ deLorimier Winery. His early work in food service management provided a great foundation and understanding of customer service.
